REPORT FOR 1892.

In presenting the Nineteenth Annual Report of the Boston Training School for Nurses, the Directors feel it necessary to give only a slight summary of the last year, as the details of the regulations and teaching of the pupils will be found in the Circular and list of lectures following.

During the year 1892, 668 applications for information have been received. Of 36 probationers who were accepted, 18 were dropped or voluntarily resigned during the probationary month, 10 failed to complete their first year, and 1 the second year; 31 pupils graduated during the year. There are now in the Hospital 12 resident head nurses, 52 pupils, and 8 probationers.

We have called attention in former reports to the fact that every pupil who graduates from the School receives a diploma, and that in engaging a nurse, unless she comes with reliable recommendations, it is well to ask for her credentials. There have been instances where a pupil who failed, for ample reason, to deserve her diploma, has yet acquired sufficient knowledge to allow her to represent herself as a nurse of good standing; and it is in the interest of the public, as well as for the reputation of the School, that this precaution is suggested.

We can only repeat our sense of the value to the pupils of the lectures and quarterly examinations for which we are indebted to the members of the Hospital Staff. The House Officers also give great assistance in their bedside instructions.

From our superintendent the School has received most satisfactory care and supervision.

There was added to the course of teaching at the Boston Cooking School a class in the chemistry of cooking, which was much appreciated by the pupils. This we owe to the kindness of one of our Directors, who supplied the necessary funds. With us, as with all societies, death and absence decrease gradually our list of annual subscribers ; and we shall thankfully receive fresh donations, large or small.

The expenses of the School include the salaries of Superintendent and Night Superintendent, some additional pay to the head nurses for instruction to the pupils, the cost of outside classes in cooking and massage, and the services of a competent physician in revising the pupils' abstracts of the lectures, — these being a valuable text-book to them in their future practice.

We acknowledge most gratefully the gift of a skeleton for the use of the School from Mrs. N. Thayer, Jr. Some of the training schools are possessed of a manikin, which can be taken apart, showing the various organs of the body; and this would be a most valuable addition to our resources.

BOSTON TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES

ATTACHED TO THE

MASSACHUSETTS GENERAL HOSPITAL IN BOSTON.

The Directors of the Boston Training School for Nurses have made arrangements with the Trustees of the Massachusetts General Hospital for giving a two years' training to women desirous of becoming professional nurses.

Persons wishing to receive this course of instruction must apply to the Superintendent of the Boston Training School, Massachusetts General Hospital, Blossom Street, Boston.

The most desirable age for Candidates is from twenty-five to thirty-five years. They must be in good health, and must refer to some responsible person as to their moral character. After approval by the Superintendent of the School and the Resident Physician of the Hospital, they are received for one month on probation. During this month they are boarded and lodged at the Hospital, but receive no compensation.

They are under the authority of the Resident Physician and the Superintendent, and are subject to the Rules of the School and of the Hospital. Their fitness for the work, and the propriety of retaining or dismissing them at the end of the month of trial, are determined by the Resident Physician and the Superintendent and Directors of the School; and the same authorities can also discharge them at any time during their connection with the School, in case of misconduct or inefficiency. They reside in the Hospital and serve as assistant nurses in the wards. When on service they are required to wear the Hospital uniform.

TRAINING.

Those fulfilling the conditions of the probationary month are accepted as pupils. They must sign a written agreement to remain at the School for two years (including the probationary month), and to conform to its rules.

The instruction includes: —

1. The dressing of burns, sores, and wounds; the preparation and application of fomentations, poultices, cups, leeches, and of minor dressings.

2. The administration of enemata, the use of the catheter, and the giving of baths.

3. The principles of massage, with practical exercises.

4. The care of the patient's room; the making of beds; the principles of ventilation, and their practical application.

5. The management and care of helpless patients; the prevention and treatment of bed-sores.

6. The manufacture of bandages; the application of bandages and splints.

7. Emergencies and their treatment.

8. The preparation, cooking, and serving of food; the use of stimulants.

They are also taught how to observe accurately the secretions, expectorations, pulse, skin, appetite, temperature, sleep, eruptions, and the effect of diet, stimulants, and medicine. They are also instructed with regard to the management of convalescents. The instruction is given mainly by the Superintendent and by the Head Nurses. Lectures, recitations, and demonstrations, by members of the Hospital Staff, also take place at stated periods.

Examinations, conducted by a Board of Medical Examiners, are held quarterly.

The pupils are employed as assistant nurses in the wards of the Hospital, receive ten dollars ($10) a month (after the probationary month) during the first year, and fourteen dollars ($14) a month during the second year, for their personal expenses. Their education during this time is considered a full equivalent for their services. During both years of the course they board and lodge at the Hospital. Their washing is also done at the expense of the Hospital. Pupils are required to come prepared to pay for their uniform at the close of the probationary month. The expense of the uniform will not exceed twelve dollars.

When the full term of two years is satisfactorily completed, a diploma is given certifying to their period of training, their proficiency and moral character. The Training School provides a badge to which graduates are entitled on the payment of seven dollars.

The Directors reserve the right to terminate the connection of a pupil with the School for any reason which they may deem sufficient.

A graduate of this School, who desires to acquire a special proficiency in the care of cases of nervous and mental diseases, has the privilege, under certain restrictions, of entering the McLean Asylum Training School for Nurses. Such graduates will, after one year's satisfactory study, receive the diploma from that School, in addition to the diploma received from the Boston Training School.
